Objectives

Upon completion of this course, learners will be able to:

- Discuss the current guidelines on intrapartum fetal health surveillance
- Review and practice the techniques of FHR auscultation and EFM
- Interpret FHR characteristics from both auscultation and EFM
- Integrate the concepts of acid-base balance and the interpretation of fetal blood gas values in FHR interpretation
- Identify important principles of verbal communication and written documentation
- Outline supportive and corrective interventions for various FHR findings

The workshop is intended for Physicians, Registered Nurses, and Registered Midwives (or students of these disciplines) who have limited experience in obstetrical care and want to learn the fundamental concepts of fetal health surveillance.

Lunch is included in the workshop fee.
Please indicate any dietary restrictions when you register.

Participants will be required to pass screening and maybe asked to wear a mask for the in-person workshop
